Mechanical Hygiene

The cleanliness of your ventilation system is directly related to how efficiently it performs and what harmful pollutants it emits. We call it "Mechanical Hygiene."

Through our Ventilation/Mechanical Hygiene, Drayton will not only keep your machines green, but . . . by employing green cleaning practices, they'll help keep the environment your employees work in healthy and productive.

IAQ Monitoring

Consult with us and we can help you begin to control many of the sources of indoor pollutants, such as formaldehydes and allergens found in wood products, consumer products and textiles.

Our monitoring system allows us to identify potential IAQ issues before they become problems and respond to complaints immediately with highly accurate IAQ meters.

HVAC Cleanliness

Most Air Quality concerns are directly related to your HVAC system. Improper care and maintenance can lead to an accumulation of dirt, dust and moisture, which can restrict air flow and jeopardize indoor air quality.

As always, prevention is the best solution. Having your HVAC system cleaned and maintained is a vital step toward ensuring a health working environment.

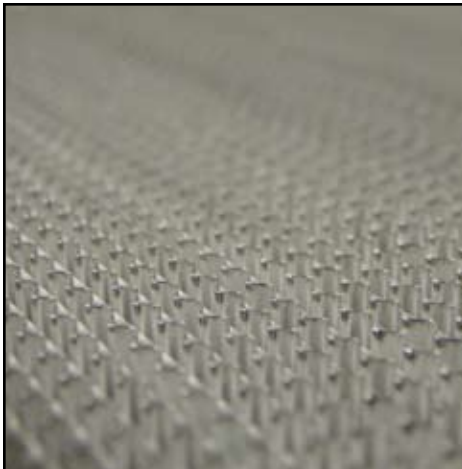

Drayton is equipped with high-efficiency cleaning equipment that will ensure that the job is done right the first time.

Longer Equipment Life

Drayton is prepared to offer seasonal coil cleaning and filter replacement regimens . . . to help lengthen the life span of your mechanical equipment.
